

PENACOOK VILLAGE ASSOCIATION

JUNE 14, 2014

The meeting was called to order by President Kathy Bush.

A slide show produced and narrated by Althea Todd depicting buildings in the historical center of Penacook, and their background, was well received by the attendees. Future stories, as well as interviews with long-standing residents are planned to provide a comprehensive story of Penacook past and present.

The Poulin Park gazebo was a topic of much discussion. Because the base was rotted, and made it impossible to move the gazebo in one piece, it was dismantled. This has caused much consternation with local residents, and a lively discussion ensued. Will the Park be reconstructed? Should there be plantings? Should there be the same type of gazebo? Is it viable to remove it to another location? What about funding? It was noted that there is thirty five hundred dollars in the bank. Can this be used as seed money? A committee was formed with Bill Smith as Chair, to be known as the Poulin Park Project Committee.
